Evening Brief

Date: Saturday August 8, 2020

Weather Summary

Weather:

 Gusty Winds/Low RH for Southern/Eastern Idaho Sunday *****

 Isolated to scattered Thunderstorms Monday/Tuesday for Northern Nevada and Northwest Utah**

Gusty winds 25-35 mph will continue this weekend over southern and eastern Idaho as a weather disturbance crosses to the north of the area. RH will be higher across the northern half of the Great Basin, but still drop to 12-16%, with exceptionally low RH in the single digits and poor overnight recovery 20-30% across Nevada and Utah and the AZ Strip.

Sunny and dry weather is expected through the weekend. On Monday another disturbance increases the potential for isolated thunderstorm activity across parts of western/central/northeast Nevada and into northwest Utah. Greater coverage of lightning is expected on Tuesday over the northern half of Nevada into far southern Idaho and far northwest Utah. These storms will be a mix of wet/dry, but should be moving a little faster with dry lightning a potential threat along with gusty outflow winds. High Risk has been issued for this event Mon/Tue (see forecast matrix).

Dry weather returns to the Geographic Area for the remainder of the work week with breezy afternoon winds possible across the southern and western areas of the Great Basin as well as over southern Idaho.

Fuels/Fire Potential

 Fuels and Fire Behavior Advisory is currently in effect for parts of eastern and southern Nevada into western Utah and the AZ Strip *****

Fuels in all regions, of all class sizes, will continue to rapidly dry.

Abnormally dry fuels continue across the southern portion of the area and are setting significant records in most areas over the southern half of the Great Basin.
